

Indivisible Kirkland: Available Volunteer Positions

Kirkland City Council Meeting Observer

of Positions: 2+

Purpose: To help us stay aware and on top of issues that are important to Kirkland residents, businesses, and government, including those brought up directly by the people during the “Items from the Audience” part of the agenda. Indivisible members will often speak during this section about issues that are important to us, and you will be there to cheer on and support the speaker during these times. Your presence at these meetings will also help us build our relationship with city council and staff, and demonstrate that we care about the details of the issues that we advocate for.

Responsibilities: The council meets twice a month at City Hall, near downtown Kirkland. You will attend and observe one of these meetings, and stay through the important parts of the agenda (usually 7:30-9pm). Within the next few days, you will follow up on what you learned by sending out notes to the Steering Committee for further action, share interesting topics or upcoming events with fellow members in our Facebook group, etc.

When: 1st or 3rd Tuesday of the month @ 7:30pm. You and other observers will sort out the schedule for everyone’s greatest availability and convenience.

Where: City Council Chamber at City Hall, 123 5th Avenue, Kirkland

Qualifications: Resident of Kirkland. Desire to learn and build relationships.

Training: You will not go alone to your first meeting. A buddy will attend with you and show you the ropes.

Lake Washington School Board Meeting Observer

of Positions: 1+

Purpose: To help us stay aware and on top of school and education related issues, including those brought up directly by the people during the “Public Comment” section of the agenda.

Responsibilities: You will attend and observe these meetings, and stay through the important parts of the agenda. Within the next few days, you will follow up on what you learned by sending out notes to the Steering Committee for further action, share interesting topics or upcoming events with fellow members in our Facebook group, etc.

When: Generally the 1st Monday of the month @ 7pm. You and other observers will sort out the schedule for everyone’s greatest availability and convenience.

Where: Board Room @ L.E. Scarr Resource Center, 16250 NE 74th Street, Redmond Town Center

Qualifications: Resident of Kirkland or resident of Lake Washington School District. Desire to learn and build relationships.

Training: You will not go alone to your first couple of meetings. As a group, we have limited experience attending these meetings, but we are happy to learn with you.
